

Truly Your Enjoyment is our Delight!

Bringing you the most popular Ottoman's traditional drink
"SHERBET"
at Mado Urgup, Capaddocia

Sherbet, once the most popular Ottoman drink, has been essentially relegated to symbolic consumption during the holy month of Ramadan - it is a healthier alternative to today's soft drinks.

During the Ottoman's period, there were roughly 300 types of sherbets made from various fresh flowers and fruits such as rose, lily, jasmine, silverberry, lotus, violet and others.

Sherbet used to be the most important medicine.

It was one of the most important products both in the kitchen of the palace and the public in the past.

Today, this traditional drink is still kept alive in modern life but with fewer types.

Ages-old sherbets that are both delicious and beneficial to the health will be offered to consumers, varying with the seasons.

Specially designed glass bottles will be filled with rose, cardamom and lemon. Palace Sherbets, Pilgrim's Sherbets, Cranberry Sherbets, Tamarind Sherbets, Blueberry Sherbets and others are sold depending on the season

It is our pleasure and honour to offer this unique and authentic Ottoman's Drink to you!
